

NIMS: Machining Level 1

Measurements, Materials, and Safety

Aligned Program of Study:

- Machining Technology
- Electromechanical technology
- Mechatronics
- Welding

Description

The National Institute for Metalworking Skills (NIMS) Machining Level 1 certifications measure an individual's skills against the NIMS Standards. There are eleven different Machining Level 1 certifications of which Measurement, Materials, and Safety is the most basic. Earning a NIMS certification normally requires a performance test and a theory test. The Measurements, Materials, and Safety certification requires only the theory exam. The performance requirements and theory tests are drawn directly from the NIMS standards and are written and piloted by industry. The Machining Level 1 certification tests are designed to meet entry-level requirements for on-the-job skills.

The Measurement, Materials, and Safety certification for NIMS Machining Level 1 certifies an individual's skills as measured against the NIMS Standards. This certification requires only a theory test. The Measurement, Materials, and Safety certification includes the following competencies:

- Applied mathematics
- Filing
- Geometrical dimensioning and tolerancing (GD&T)
- Inspection
- Machine maintenance
- Machine safety
- Machining applications
- Materials
- Measurements
- Print reading
- Shop safety
